

Policies & Disclosure

Make Mindful Memories which is found at <http://makemindfulmemories.com> (“Website”) is governed by the privacy policy (“Privacy Policy”) that follows:

The viewer is aware that the site owner may collect the following information during your visit:

- Contact information such as name and email address
- Demographics, including your location, interests, device you’re using, and general preferences

What will I do with this data?

I know, I know, collecting all that data might sound a little creepy. But, rest assured, the main point of this information is to gain a better understanding of my audience and to produce content that intrigues you. It’s likely that I’ll be analyzing statistics of users that visit this site. I’ll use this data for email marketing purposes (allowing you to receive more customized emails from me).